

Unsatisfactory Bout Between Dempsey and Brennan Continues to Be Subject of Sharp Criticism by Boxing Enthusiasts

EVIDENT LACK OF FORM

Moving Pictures of Important
Contests Are Disapproved
by the Commissioners.

By CHARLES F. MATHISON.

The first official expression of opinion by a member of the Boxing Commission in reference to the contest between Dempsey and Brennan came yesterday from Laurence McGuire, chairman of the License Committee. Mr. McGuire was not at all pleased with the bout and said so in no uncertain language.

"In my opinion," said he, "it was the poorest heavyweight contest I ever saw, and it was not only the poorest, but it was also the most uninteresting. I am confident I never would have put up as good if not a better fight."

"By the way," added Mr. McGuire, "if the promoters received by boxers saw, did not receive so much publicity, it would be better for the sport."

When informed by the writer that the promoters and boxers and their managers were solely responsible for the reports of big purses, and that the Boxing Commission could stop it by instructing the promoters and managers to keep to themselves the amounts offered to fighters, Chairman McGuire admitted the truth of the assertion.

Mr. McGuire expressed the opinion that moving pictures were not conducive to good performances by boxers and he was in favor of prohibiting them. He said the commission had no advance information as to the terms of the fight, and that he had ordered the camera men out on the night of the contest would have resulted in much confusion and delay.

Tate's Compensation.

An aggravated case of overpaying a boxer is furnished by the case of Big Bill Tate, who was in the ring with the Norfolk and Portsmouth team. Tate did not do four minutes of fighting. Norfolk did all the fighting. It is reported that Tate received $4,000 for his "services," and if that report is true, the Norfolk negro received $3,975 more than he earned.

Tate is the sparring partner of the champion, and he should have learned something about boxing from the champion's years he has been in the Dempsey camp.

The International Sporting Club and "Tex" Rickard have come to an amicable agreement regarding the release of Pete Herman from his contract so that he can meet Joe Lynch at the Garden next Wednesday night. This agreement will allow the International Sporting Club to box for the bout promises to be a sensational one.

The I. S. C. officials had no set objection to releasing Herman for the bout, but they have been consulted by Herman and Rickard at the outset the matter would have been quickly settled.

When the I. S. C. announced that it might take the matter to the Boxing Commission, a member of that body intimated that as the I. S. C. had no license the commission was without jurisdiction. Secretary Empey responded yesterday to the effect that if the I. S. C. had paid its license fee it would be advisable for the commission to return the amount, in which event the club would take its future disputes to the law courts.

Louis Bogash, a leading contender for the welter honors, will meet Vince Coffey, a hard hitter, in a fifteen round bout to-night at the Pioneer Sporting Club. Bogash is without question one of the best welter fighters in the world. Coffey lives up to his reputation, the bout to-night should be a hummer.

Vince is a cousin of Jim Coffey, the champion Giant, but is not depending for fame on Jim's reputation as a boxer.

Welsh at Shannon Benefit.

Freddie Welsh, former world's lightweight champion and one of the cleverest of boxers, has been paired off with Al Thoma, the shifty Newkicker, for a bout in the boxing carnival to be staged in the Fourth Regiment Armory in Jersey City next Monday night. The proceeds of which are to go to the widowed mother of Mickey Shannon. Dave Driscoll is arranging the bout.

George Ward, the New Jersey welterweight champion, will box with his stable mate, Paul Sampson.

In the other bouts Jack Britton, world's welterweight champion, boxers Jim Montgomery, middleweight champion of Ireland; Battling Levinsky opposes Sailor Grande of the Pacific coast; Eddie Fitzsimmons of Yorkshire scraps with Frankie Sullivan of Greenwich Village and Billy Bevens of Wilkes-Barre meets George Thompson of Frisco.

It is announced by Tex Rickard that Benny Leonard will receive $40,000 and Richie Mitchell $20,000 for their fifteen round bout at Madison Square Garden January 14. The remaining proceeds of the contest will go to the rehabilitation of devastated France. Miss Anne Morgan being the chairman of the committee in charge.

Leonard and Mitchell have not as yet announced what proportion of their net guarantees they will donate to the good cause.

Jim Conry insists that Frank Klancy is one of the most promising middleweights in this vicinity. Klancy is said to be a good boxer and very aggressive.

Pete Herman, who boxes Joe Lynch at the Garden next Wednesday night, will sail for England on the Imperator the day following. Herman has a match with Wildie in London January 14.

The Midget Smith and Johnny Buff bout, which will precede the Herman-Lynch affair at the Garden next Wednesday night, is attracting nearly as much attention as the chief event.

Two able welterweights, each hopeful of some day succeeding Jack Britton as champion, will meet Saturday night at the Pioneer Sporting Club in the main event of fifteen rounds. George Ward, Elizabeth, and Paul Doyle of the East Side are the boxers.

REPEAL OF TWO SPORT RULES.

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—Repeal of the two sport rule at Northwestern University, permitting athletes to engage in only two sports or sport, was voted today by the faculty athletic board. The action will place Northwestern teams on equal terms with other Western Conference teams.

COLLEGE ATTACKS
BETTING IN PUBLICWesleyan Senate Warns Students
Against Making
Wagers in Bleachers.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Dec. 16.—Wesleyan and Trinity have severed athletic relations as a result of the unpleasantness which occurred on the gridiron last fall. The college senates of the two institutions took matters in hand and there was a likelihood that the good offices of these two bodies would have prevented a break if the undergraduate body of Trinity had not voted precipitately, while the negotiations were in progress, to sever the relations. When this was done there was nothing left to do but acquiesce. Wesleyan and Trinity have been meeting on the gridiron for more than twenty-five years and during that period relations have been broken nearly half a dozen times.

Wesleyan's first basketball game after the holidays will be with Union in this city. The team has not yet elected a captain to take the place of Tomlinson, who did not return to college this fall. There is little doubt but what the captaincy will go to Hartman, the varsity center, who is putting up such a good game. Robertson, Robison and Hoadwich are showing good form in the practice. The men are bothered considerably about fouls because of the new ruling in regard to dribbling. They are trying to eradicate this falling and as the season progresses an improvement is looked for.

Considerable discussion in regard to betting on college games has held attention here, following the criticism which an alumnus made of the open exhibition of this which took place on the field at the Athletic Union in the fall. The college senate discussed the matter at length but came to the conclusion that betting was a matter every man should decide for himself.

The senate did express the opinion, however, that undergraduates should not do their betting in public where the bleachers could see what was going on. As the Wesleyan football coach, has added an interesting side-light to the betting discussion. He said the Wesleyan team stayed at a hotel at North Adams the night before the Williams game in order to get plenty of rest. Four o'clock the morning of the day the game was scheduled, however, he was routed out of bed by the night clerk to go to the 115 room at the West. The clerk of the wire a Wesleyan alumnus who wanted to know how he should bet on the game.

CITY COLLEGE WILL REENTER WRESTLING

Athletic Executive Board
Sanctions Tentative Dates.

That City College will reenter wrestling circles in the metropolitan district after a lapse of over four years was made certain when the executive board of the City College Athletic Association sanctioned the tentative schedule proposed by the wrestling management.

According to present plans the squad will continue its programme, begun last year, of practicing three times a week. The first practice will be held on Monday after college sessions are resumed after the winter vacations a team picked from the present squad will be matched with teams from the Boys' Club Athletic Union, Y. M. C. A. centers in the city. It is the intention of the men in charge of this sport to arrange a schedule with prominent colleges for the 1921 season.

Among the men who are back are acting Capt. Wittner, who wrestles in the 145 pound class; Schapiro, the unlimited weight representative, and Fass in the 115 pound class. The freshmen who ordinarily compose a group of their own, will practice for the present with the squad.

McFALL ELECTED CAPTAIN.

EASTON, Pa., Dec. 16.—George McFall was elected captain of the Lafayette College cross-country team at the cross-country banquet here to-day. McFall is a senior, has been a member of the team for three years and a member of the Junior class. The selected leader is a graduate of Easton High School.

In consideration of their wonderful record in winning every race since they came to Easton, the Lafayette team was elected to the honor of being the Lafayette team for the year.

Bob Crawford, Freshman, N. Y.; Montgomery, Washington, D. C.; Tracey, Freshman, N. Y.; and Heller, Freshman, N. Y., are the varsity letter men. Cross-country is a minor sport at Lafayette College, but a substitute half-back, also, was granted a varsity letter by the varsity club.

CUTLER TO PLAY ORTZ.

As the opening act in his campaign for a match with Edward Hengeman, the visiting Belgian Military Athletic Club, who has challenged the European, will begin a series of public workouts to-night with a 300 point game of 183 against Antonio Ortiz of Spain at the Morristown Hilliard Academy.

Cutler will play on the same table on which Hengeman made a run of 200 and an average of 60-2-3 a fortnight ago. The same table also will be used in the match which before practically the same group of observers who saw the Belgian's spectacular performance.

COOPER TO SUCCEED ROMIG.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 16.—O. T. Cooper of Calumet, a junior, has been elected captain of the Pennsylvania State cross-country team for next year, succeeding Romig, intercollegiate title holder. Two members of this year's squad, Romig and Orr, will be lost by graduation.

FRUSH DEFEATS NOBLE.

DUFFIELD, Mich., Dec. 16.—Denny Frush and Tommy Noble fought each other to a standstill in the final bout of the National Sporting Club show last night. The contest, going to Frush, in the first round a right to the jaw sent Noble down for the count of eight. He hoped to his feet, however, and floored Frush with a right to the chin. Denny was up in an instant.

EMMET FRENCH IN FORM.

PINEBURGH, N. C., Dec. 16.—Emmet French of Youngstown played some fine golf at Pinehurst to-day in the course of a professional exhibition match with Charles Motherhead of Mount Minco. Handicapped by a heavy wind French went around in 64-58-72, and won by 2 and 1. Motherhead was 75-72-71.

NEW HAVEN KEEPS BENDER.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 16.—In spite of Cooper's offer for the services of Cutler, the Indian pitcher will remain as the varsity pitcher for the Eastern League. Bender will take the team to Georgia next spring for training.

HIGH LIGHTS AND SHADOWS
IN ALL SPHERES OF SPORT

By DANIEL.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Herald.

DISCUSSION of the bout between Jack Dempsey and Bill Brennan will not down for some days to come. That the contest was quite unsatisfactory is the general opinion among those who saw it. Just why it was unsatisfactory is a question which has developed many arguments, some of them not at all germane to the subject. At any rate, Dempsey's showing has reopened the question of his status among the holders of the world's heavyweight championship. Veterans who saw Dempsey for the first time came away asking by what right some critics had pronounced the champion the hardest hitter in the history of the ring—what license they had to give Dempsey a place above such stalwarts as Peter Jackson, John L. Sullivan, Bob Fitzsimmons, Jim Corbett, Jim Jeffries or even Tom Sharkey. Dempsey was pronounced the hardest hitter on the strength of his quick victory over Fulton and his impressive, tearing battle against Willard. And, as we said before, the Dempsey of Tuesday night was by no means the Dempsey who stopped Willard.

Old timers were vehement in their expression of the belief that the Fitzsimmons who stopped Corbett would have downed Dempsey—that the Jeffries who pounded Fitzsimmons and Corbett into submission would have turned the same trick against the present title holder—that the John L. Sullivan who stopped John Flood on a barge off Yonkers in eight rounds and knocked out Paddy Ryan in nine rounds would have punched Dempsey into unconsciousness. They averred that the Corbett who knocked out Sullivan—even the Corbett who was knocked out in twenty-three rounds by Jeffries—would have whipped Dempsey—might not have stopped him, but would have cut him to ribbons and gained the decision in fifteen rounds in a walkover.

Dempsey's Place Among Leaders of All Time.

Of course, the old timers have that natural respect and veneration for the old days and the old heroes. But Dempsey is a great heavyweight, even if he did take nearly thirty-five minutes to stop Brennan, who would have ranked fairly high among the old heavyweights. Dempsey may not rank high in defense, but he is a remarkable fighter on attack. When he wants to keep going he keeps going, and he showed against Brennan that he can go quite a way at a pretty fast pace.

Just where we would place Dempsey in a ranking of the heavyweight leaders of all time is a problem. The greatest of them all, perhaps, was Peter Jackson, the West Indian negro, who won the championship of Australia, and while on the downgrade was good enough to stop Frank Slavin in ten rounds for the championship of England. In 1891, when Jackson was wasting away from a malignant malady, he still was fast enough to hold Corbett to a sixty-one round draw. Dempsey does not rank second, third or even fourth. But that's a broad question which may merit consideration at some other time.

Dempsey's showing against Brennan has created great enthusiasm in France, where the belief has grown stronger that Carpenter can stop the American. And it might not be a wise thing for Dempsey to tackle Harry Wills. Weinert and Greb would be more in Jack's line just now. He had better get several additional fights under his belt before he takes on the Frenchman. Dempsey is of the type which requires action all the time, and even a short lay off is bound to make him rusty.

Big Trade Will Help Both Yanks and Red Sox.

The four for four trade between the Yankees and the Red Sox was one of those ideal exchanges, as it is bound to help both clubs. The Yankees gave up Ruel, Pratt, Thormahlen and Vick and got Schang, McNally, Harper and Hoyt. In Schang the New Yorks acquired what they have not had in years and years—a really great catcher. It is true that Wally has passed his peak and that he will go down as the seasons pass. But Miller Huggins is looking toward the season of 1921, and only that. He has been commissioned to land the 1921 pennant and to make all plans with only that end in view. He knows that two or three years from now Ruel very likely will be a greater catcher than Schang, but the owners of the Yankees have decided to adopt the McGraw policy—plan only for the immediate future, and if the men you let go develop the chances are that you will be able to get them back.

McGraw's system has come in for a great deal of ridicule. We find him offering more than $160,000 for Groh, an infielder whom he let go to the Red Sox seasons ago. He would give more than $200,000 for Groh and Roush, another former Giant. But how many times $200,000 have the Giants made through the McGraw system since the release of that pair? And when he wants them back he usually gets them.

Schang behind the bat will make a remarkable difference to the club—all the difference which comes from having a heady veteran not only directing play, but holding up his pitchers. Ruel could not do that. McNally may be no wonder with the stick—he hit for .256 last season, but he is a fast man and a fine fielder. Hoyt should be one of the leading pitchers next season, while Harper may settle down and be of far greater use than he was with Boston.

The Yankees gave up a hard hitter in Pratt, who slammed the ball for .305 last season, but there is no guarantee that he will return to the game next summer. He is coaching at Michigan, and report has it that he will play no more professional ball. In losing Pratt the Yankees have not lost as much as may be imagined. He is not a great organization man. Fawcett will cover second in much better style, and his almost as well. The younger batted for .286 in 1920. Vick never was a good outfielder and never will be. Thormahlen is a first class pitcher and should be of considerable use to Boston.

Canadians Put Up Bars Against Our Soccer.

It will be news to followers of sport here that we are in the thick of a soccer "war" with Canada. Plans had been perfected for a trip to the Dominion by the Bethlehem team, but these had to be cancelled because the Canadians would not have the steel plant outfit. It seems that the soccer officials of England, France, Belgium and Canada decline to have players who are connected with the steel industry.

It will be remembered that our soccer team abroad not so many months ago to play Scandinavian teams.

We cannot understand the Canadian attitude as regards Sweden, Norway and Denmark, as we believe that Scandinavian athletes were permitted to compete in the English track and field championships last summer. Canadian and English athletes competed against the Scandinavians in the Olympic games. Why the uproar about the Bethlehems playing Scandinavian soccer teams?

Keck of Princeton Gets a Deserved Honor.

In electing Keck captain for next season the football squad of Princeton has given the great tackle a most deserved honor. Keck has found a place on every all star team so far named. He played football like a gentleman and a sportsman.

HARVARD'S TENNIS SCHEDULE.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Dec. 16.—Sixteen matches have been arranged for the Harvard tennis team, including six contests mostly in the South to be played during the spring recess. The athletic committee, however, made it clear that if the appropriation for the sport was in danger of being overdrawn some of the late home contests would be curtailed.

The schedule:
April 16, Agawam Hunt Club, at Providence, 18th, Richmond Country Club, at Richmond, Va., 19th, Norfolk Country Club, at Norfolk, Va., 20th, Navy, at Annapolis; 21st, Chevy Chase Country Club, at Chevy Chase, Md., 22d, Baltimore Country Club, at Baltimore, Md., 23d, Philadelphia Cricket Club, at Philadelphia, 24th, Williams, at Dartmouth.

May 1, Brown, 7th, Springfield College, Y. M. C. A., 11th, Providence Tennis Club, at Providence, 12th, Longwood Cricket Club, at Brookline; 13th, Lenox, 14th, 25th, 26th, Yale, at New Haven.
